For West Central Texas, conditions today will be similar to what occurred on Saturday. Isolated to scattered showers and thunderstorms are possible, mainly this afternoon and evening, with the higher rain chances across the area southeast of a line from Ozona to Brownwood. Possible hazards include dangerous lightning with a few of the storms, and minor flooding, due to locally heavy rainfall.

More Showers and Storms Today

Lightning and gusty winds will be the primary hazards.

Sunday will be another day with scattered showers and thunderstorms. Lightning and gusty winds will be the primary hazards. Summer weekends are for outdoor activities, but it's important to be weather-ready. Storms can develop quickly. Move indoors immediately if lightning is seen or thunder is heard. If storms threaten, boaters should seek safe harbor. Even if a storm isn't severe, outflow winds can capsize small crafts. These winds may extend many miles from the parent thunderstorm. Keep a weather radio on your boat for the latest updates.

Hazardous Weather

Scattered Showers and Thunderstorms

Partly cloudy and very warm today

Weather Forecast Office
Brownsville/RGV, TX
Issued Jul 08, 2018 6:44 AM CDT

@NWSBrownsville

A weak upper level trough of low pressure across northeast Mexico will provide scattered showers and thunderstorms across portions of the Rio Grande valley and northern ranchlands today. Expect temperatures to be near normal to slightly below normal across deep south Texas this afternoon

Today

Scattered to Numerous Showers and Thunderstorms

Weather Forecast Office
Corpus Christi, TX
Issued Jul 08, 2018 4:21 AM CDT

NWSCorpus

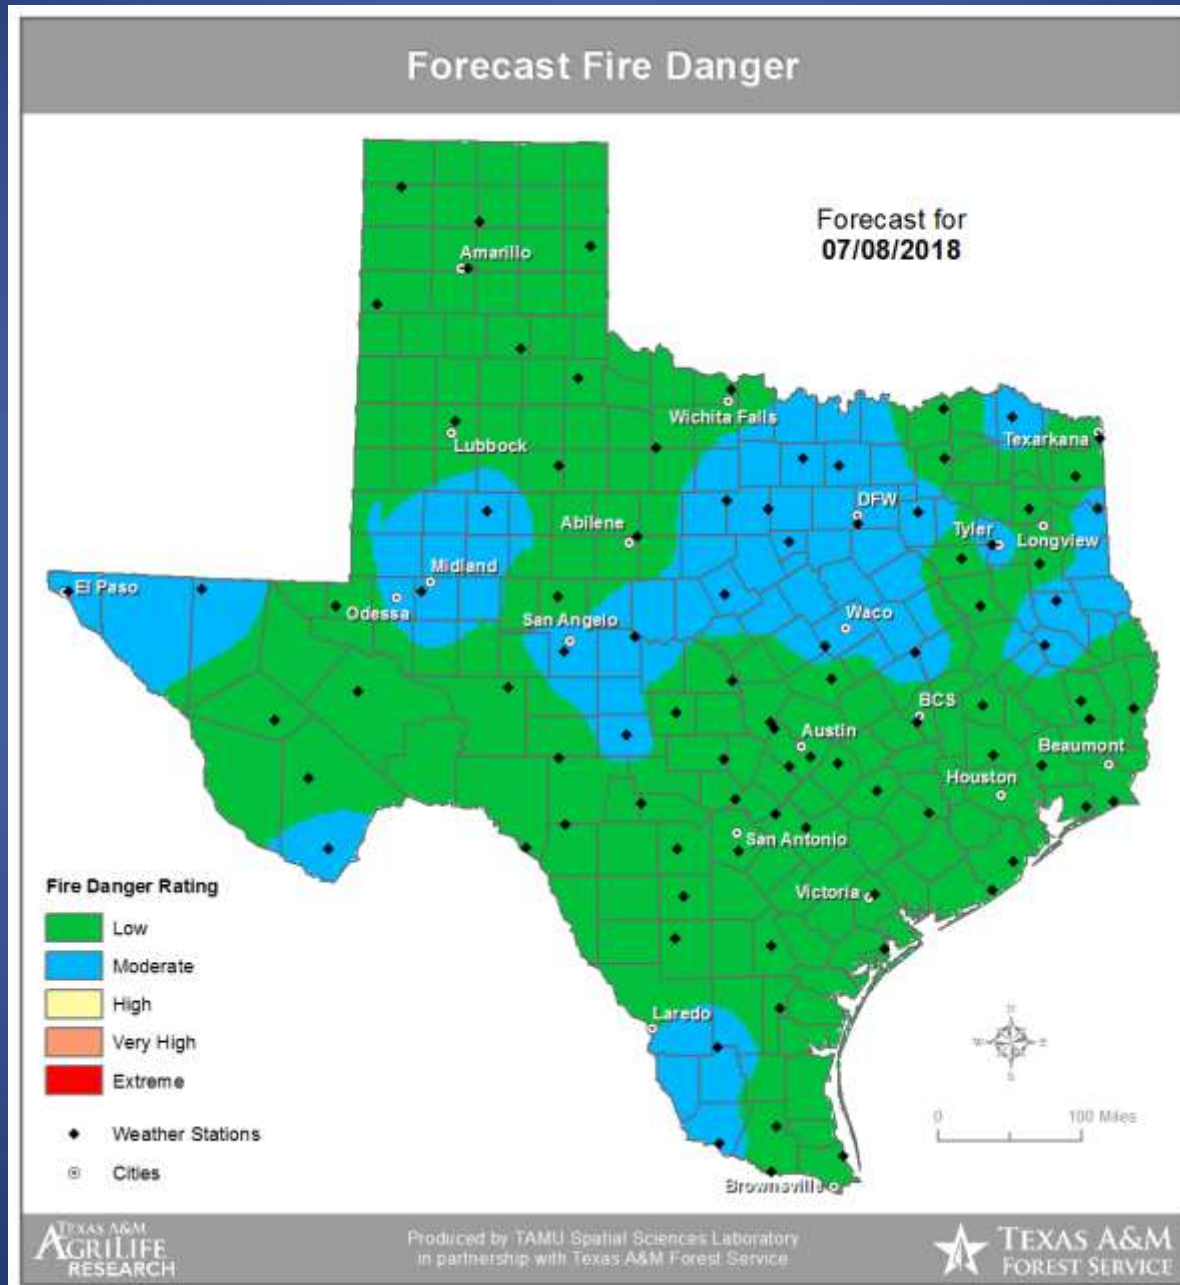

weather.gov/crp

The combination of an upper level disturbance (and corresponding surface trough of low pressure), copious moisture, and instability will contribute to scattered to numerous showers and thunderstorms today. Locally heavy rainfall possible. Highs will range from the mid 80s to the lower 90s.
